HELPFUL FACTS

- Founded in 1766.
- State supported.
- Enrollment of 17,000 at its New Brunswick and Piscataway campuses.
- Dr. Edward J. Bloustein, president.
- Nicknamed The Scarlet and Scarlet Knights.
- Home Field — Rutgers Stadium, capacity 23,000 or 31,000 with temporary stands added.
- Pre-season training will be at The Peddie School in Hightstown for the third year in a row.
- Football Offices — the coaches have offices in the Gymnasium and in the Stadium Field House.
- Scholarship support comes from The Rutgers Scarlet R Club.

ON THE COVER

Nate Toran (left), head coach Frank Burns and Tom Holmes are looking forward to another winning season at Rutgers. A winning mark would make four consecutive seasons of prosperity at the State University. Toran, a junior defensive end, and Holmes, a senior linebacker, were All-East picks last season as members of the Scarlet defense that ranked sixth overall nationally in defense and ninth against the rush. Toran, known to his teammates as "The Skate," led the team in sacks with 19 for a total loss of 115 yards. Holmes led the team in total tackles with 124 of which 90 were primary stops. Burns, whose record after two years is 13 wins, eight losses and a tie, can count on these young men plus 24 other letter winners for leadership on an otherwise young team.

MEDIA MESSAGE

"Service" is the missing name in the Rutgers Sports Information Office, but it is our purpose to provide just that for the members of the media that cover Scarlet athletics. Your requests for interviews, pictures, slides, films and feature stories as well as statistics are welcomed. Telecopier service is available at our College Avenue office in Alexander Johnston Hall during the week, free of charge. Please advise this office of your need for Telecopier assistance the week before each game and also make arrangements for the placement of special telephone orders.

Normally, there is room for only one commercial radio station and one student station covering visiting teams, so please request permission to broadcast as soon as possible. Only the official visiting stations will be given priority.

The Scarlet will begin pre-season practice at The Peddie School in Hightstown, Tuesday, August 26. Picture day is set for Monday, August 25, starting at 1:30 PM in the Stadium.

TICKET INFORMATION

Season reserved seats at $37.00 for all seven home games will be available until September 17. Junior season reserved seats for persons under 19 years of age are available at a cost of $21.00. The Family Plan permits two adults and up to three children to sit together in the end zone at a cost of $32.00 for two adults and one additional dollar for each child. Again, as it was last year, this is an incredible bargain in family entertainment. This year a general admission season pass for an end zone seat may be purchased for $16.00. Individual reserved seats can be purchased for $6.00 per game and general admission will be $3.00. For the prices of away game tickets, see the next page. A reserved parking space for the season can be bought for $14.00 and an unreserved space for all seven games for $7.00.

"CONCERT IN 'D'"

Like a symphony of crackling tackles and muted blows, the Scarlet defensive unit, the big "D" converged in concert against opponent ball carriers and passers in 1974 for a lofty ranking among the nation's best.

Carrying the musical analogy further, this would not have been possible without the presence of virtuosos...in this case big, talented football players. Linebacker Tom Holmes, defensive end Nate Toran and tackle John Alexander are three of the more notable members of the defensive unit that ranked sixth overall in the nation and ninth against the run...among the top major independents, second in total defense, third in scoring allowance and third against the run.

Holmes and Toran, featured on the cover of this book, were honored by All-East recognition in 1974, and this year they should be joined by other teammates as the post-season honors are handed out. In all, six Scarlet Knights made the various All-East teams last year.

ALEXANDER

TORAN

A former defensive end, Holmes was the team's leading tackler, totalling 124. Ninety were "first hits", and the 6-2, 220-pound senior aided the air defense with two interceptions and three passes broken up. No less than five times, his jarring stops caused fumbles, another team-leading statistic.

And you say, here is the true football monster. On the contrary, so says his wife Kay, a former sweetheart from his high school days in Miami. Even he admits, "Off the field, I'm basically a passive person, at least in my attitude toward other people. Football is an outlet for my aggressions, and I enjoy defense and especially playing linebacker because I'd rather be doing the hitting than getting hit." Smart man this ceramic engineering major.

Holmes is aware of the importance of individual effort on field, even though football is a team sport and he is joined in this awareness by Toran, better known to teammates and fans as "Nate the Skate."

Nate has his sights set on All-American recognition although the biological science major describes himself as basically a team player. "Individual awards in football are just like grades in the classroom. They help me move up the ladder," relates the junior, who is open about his ambitions in professional football. "But on the field, I'm not playing just for myself. If I do something well (which is often), I don't dwell on it. All the team members help each other out, and no one person can really take the credit. We all have a lot of respect for each other. Still, for me there is nothing like the pleasure I get from sacking a quarterback."

Getting to opponent quarterbacks and runners is something Toran did more than any other player on the team last fall, 19 times to be exact, for a total of 115 yards lost. He also recovered four fumbles, two of which he caused, broke up five passes and generally made life miserable for the other side. His speed and maneuverability are awesome.

Speed, too, is something that Alexander possesses although it is somewhat disguised by the fact that he gets most of his work done in the "pit"...far from the eye of most spectators. He can move his 6-3, 240-pound frame across a 40-yard stretch of field in 4.8 seconds, a time that some backs would be proud of. The junior history major is also one of Toran's biggest boosters, which might be partially explained by the fact that the pair are roommates.

"Nate and I are probably very different...he's more open where I am reserved. He relates to people well, and he's really a modest person."

Alexander knows all about being modest. Despite the fact that his coaches feel he has natural, All-American talents and that professional scouts have been eagerly charting his progress for the past two years, he speaks not of his accomplishments but rather of the improvement he feels he must make.

"I decided this year that I want to be stronger and more agile, so I worked on my weight training over the winter and through the spring. (No one in his right mind would ever accuse him of being a weakling.) I want to use these qualities to better advantage. Last year I got an awful lot of help from Nate and Dwight (Lipscomb), but this year I hope to carry more of the load on my own."

Alexander's efforts would indicate that he did more than his share last year. He put his body between the goal and one extra point and one field goal attempt for two blocked kicks, broke up five passes and caused one fumble in addition to his 42 primary tackles and 10 assists. Seven of those primary stops accounted for 42 yards in losses. Not bad for a down lineman.

When he credits Lipscomb for helping out, it is no idle compliment. Although the pair played together at Plainfield High School and live only a few minutes apart, Lipscomb is deserving of any credit he receives. He and Holmes are the only three-letter winners on the team, and the talented (concert singer) senior business major owns the distinction of being the first freshman to play varsity ball (1972) at Rutgers since 1954. He ranked just ahead of Alexander in tackles with a total of 53, causing four fumbles and recovering three. He also intercepted a pass from his outside linebacking position.

It's only natural that he should be included in this listing of potential stars, because if the group really did get together to make music, he's the only one that could carry a tune. And, you'd have to call it, "Concert in 'D'."

A great University must strive for excellence in all of its undertakings. The attainment of such excellence, however, requires the continued support of alumni and friends.

1975, A YEAR FOR

Rutgers' football team weathered a year of transition very nicely, producing a 7-3-1 record in 1974 and building a foundation for the optimism of the 1975 outlook.

As the optimism gives way to the excitement of the students and fans of the State University, the result is best described as Scarlet Fever ... a high pitch of excitement that should rise through a schedule that features seven home games in beautiful Rutgers Stadium.

Twenty-six of last year's 45 lettermen return with an equal number of incumbent starters, six, on both offense and defense.

"We were surprised by our success last season with a very young team," says Frank Burns, who now owns a 13-8-1 record in two years as Rutgers' head coach. "Although we will again be a relatively young team (57% or 56 of 98 varsity candidates this fall will be from the sophomore and freshman classes), we should start to see some of the benefits of the experience we gained with a new offensive system and modified defense last year."

Last year was the first for the winged-T offense, which after a rather slow start, began to roll with experience and wound up establishing three new school records and producing a national season high with 781 yards in a 62-21 win over Colgate. All but one member of the starting 1974 backfield will be in uniform this year, including the top two rushers, fullback Curt Edwards (889 yards), and halfback Mike Fisher (622 yards), and the leading passer, quarterback Bert Kosup (1070 yards).

Graduation took an especially heavy toll on the defense where free safety Tony Pawlik (now of the New Orleans Saints) and cornerback Ed Jones (now "Too Small" Jones of the Dallas Cowboys) tied for the school career interception record with 14 apiece. In fact, there is but one returning starter in the secondary, strong safety Jim Teatom who was second only to Jones last year in interceptions with four. Dave Figueroa, a junior as is Teatom, is the only other returning letterman and he is slated to start at one of the cornerback positions.

The offensive line is missing its 1974 starters from guard to guard, but the return of tackles Bill Fenn, a senior, and Tony Ray, a sophomore, along with some transfers from defense and sophomore help should provide the rebuilding personnel. Ray, a sparkplug of a player, has been switched to guard and converted linebacker Dan Pfabe will complement the position on the other side of center where sophomore John Fedorchak is slated as All-East Andy Zdobylak's replacement. Another defense alumnus, junior Jim O'Halloran, will take Ray's vacated tackle slot.

Coach Burns faced similar problems last year on offense, but that doesn't make this year's solution any easier. "We were thin last year in the offensive line, but lucky not to get any serious injuries. Although we should be a little deeper this year with sophomores and freshmen, we will again be susceptible to depth problems if we experience any personnel losses."

The flanks of the line should have neither depth nor talent problems, especially at the tight end where the Scarlet is a solid three deep. Senior Pete Clark, a starter in 1974, was unseated in the spring by sophomore Jon Walling, a transfer from Purdue where he played as a freshman, and backing them up is junior Mark Debes who started the first three games of 1974. Size is one of the strong points of the position as Walling stands 6-5, Clark 6-2 and Debes 6-6.

At the split end, Mark Twitty, a junior, returns as a starter and his back-up, sophomore Marty O'Hare, makes up in sheer athletic ability what he lacks in game experience. The New Jersey decathlon champion as a freshman, he displayed nearly incredible pass-catching skills in the wet and slippery spring game with two catches for 32 yards.

SCARLET FEVER !

The question of who will be running the offense is just that, although Burns isn't perplexed with a problem of inexperienced signal callers. Rutgers has, in recent history, called its players together for pre-season camp with no quarterback having solid starting experience. Kosup combines good running and passing skills with his experience as a starter in all 11 games last year, a season which saw him amass 1,206 total yards and lead the team in scoring with 36 points himself and 58 more to pass receivers. But, when the varsity candidates report to the Peddie School August 25, he will be challenged by junior Matt Allison, who came to Rutgers last year after two summers of professional baseball and a year of junior college. Allison, who stands 6-2 to Kosup's 5-11, is an outstanding lefthanded passer with scrambling magic.

Although Curt Edwards, a senior, was a regular at fullback and the team's leading rusher in 1974, his status as a starter will be in question at the outset of pre-season drills. Jeff Greczyn, a junior who played on the varsity last fall as a reserve halfback and fullback, moved up to the first team in the spring while Edwards sat out a semester for health reasons. Greczyn's 98 yards on 20 carries in the spring game solidified his hold on the position that Edwards had only asked him to keep warm in his absence. Edwards, the team's second leading scorer, gained over 100 yards in four games in 1974 and ranked tenth among the nation's leading rushers at independent colleges.

Mike Fisher, a sophomore, is the other returning backfield letterman. The halfback trailed Edwards in rushing with 622 yards, the best figure in modern history for a freshman at Rutgers, and produced the team's longest run from scrimmage, 79 yards.

Despite the graduation losses, the defense has more than its share of returning stars, including All-East selections Tom Holmes, a senior linebacker and Nate Toran, a junior end. Outside linebacker Dwight Lipscomb, a senior and one of the team's three-year letter winners, and junior tackle John Alexander, a respectable 6-3 and 240 pounds, are two other reasons that the defense gave up yardage so reluctantly last fall and all should be in line for individual honors.

Rich Wagner, a sophomore, edged out experienced senior Steve Hoffman at middle guard and the other tackle spot will see sophomores Dan Gray and Denny Eckles vying for a starting berth in the pre-season.

Sophomores figure in the battle for the inside linebacking post opposite Holmes. Elvin Washington, a starter for the final four games of 1974, was edged out by Tim Blanchard in the spring, but could easily recapture the lead with some adjustments.

Two other sophomores, cornerback Reggie Moultrie and free safety Bob Davis, have a good chance of starting, although senior Monjure Ali is listed ahead of Davis in the pre-season depth chart because of his experience.

The kicking game, although inconsistent last year, should benefit from the experience of punter Steve Simek, a senior, and placekicker Bill Bradley, also a senior. Bradley, third in scoring in 1974 with 14 of 18 extra point attempts and 4 of 10 field goals, showed remarkable progress in the spring with increased consistency.

All but three of the players mentioned in this outlook are residents of New Jersey and, in fact, close to 74% of the varsity candidates expected to participate in pre-season drills (71 of 98) are New Jersey residents. Without a doubt, they are looking forward to eight of the 11 games on the schedule in the Garden State. With the prospects of a fourth consecutive winning record, it should be a season that is both well attended and well appreciated at the State University.

RUTGERS HEAD FOOTBALL COACH

FRANK BURNS

This year marks the silver anniversary for Frank Burns as a football coach and it was 30 years ago that he walked onto the New Brunswick campus as a post-war freshman, ready to lead the Scarlet teams through the "Golden Era" as a quarterback and linebacker. Now, he seems poised on the threshold of directing Rutgers on another period of gridiron success.

In his two years as head coach, he has compiled 13 wins, eight losses and a tie, and the prospects look good for the future. The recruiting efforts for the past two years have brought considerable size onto the roster which now is 74% composed of New Jersey players. The promise of another winning season has brought out enthusiasm at The State University like never before.

All but seven of his years as a coach have been spent at Rutgers, developing quarterbacks who subsequently broke his records and directing offenses that were known for their imagination and execution.

As a quarterback for the Scarlet, from 1945 through 1948, he established passing records, picking up the nickname, "Flinging Frank." He was selected to the All-East team twice, received honorable mention on most of the All-America teams, played in the 1949 East-West Shrine game and was named the "Most Valuable Player" in the New York Herald-Tribune All-Star Game. Under his direction, Rutgers won 27 games and lost only seven.

"If it were not for my years of coaching association with Rutgers," says the newlywed resident of Berkley Heights, "I probably would not be in coaching today. My years here as a player were a good foundation for me both professionally and philosophically, because I learned how to win and what it takes to be a winner."

Burns can say that with ease because among his attributes, he is both confident and modest. Perhaps that is the secret to his tenure in a very rugged and competitive profession.

His previous coaching assignments at Rutgers were as freshman coach (1949-50), freshman head coach (1953-54), varsity backfield coach (1955-56 and 1961-67) and offensive coordinator and associate head coach under John Bateman (1968-72). In between, he served in 1951 and 1952 as head coach of Johns Hopkins, at the time one of the youngest head coaches in the nation at 23, and following the 1956 campaign, he took over as head coach at Chatham (NJ) High School, a school which had not been represented in football in 25 years.

Known for his accomplishments as an offensive ball player and coach, he surprised one writer in the past by saying that if he had played at the time of two platoon football, he would have preferred playing on defense. In fact, he was named MVP in the 1949 College All-Star game with the NFL champion New York Giants for his 17 tackles as a linebacker. The All-Stars won, 28-13, something they have not done too many times since.

Burns was also an outstanding catcher for the Scarlet baseball teams.

Following his graduation, he played professionally for a brief period before returning to coach at Rutgers fulltime.

A native of Roselle Park, he is married to the former Linda Randolph of New Brunswick. He has three children, Frank, Jr., 23, Thomas, 21, a student at Rutgers, and Barbara Jean, 19. Frank, Jr. was graduated from Nichols College in 1974 where he was named to the ECAC Division III All-Star team as a quarterback.

ROBERT NASO

Defensive Coordinator and Linebacker Coach

A 1959 Rutgers graduate, Bob was a gifted lacrosse player, earning second team All-America honors as a midfielder while also performing at two positions, center and blocking back, for the Scarlet single-wing football teams between 1956 and 1958. Naso was a standout scholastic player in both sports at Sewanhaka High School on Long Island. His coaching career began as Rutgers' lightweight football and lacrosse assistant immediately after his graduation. After an Army stint, he was made varsity lacrosse coach and directed the freshman football program in 1961. His frosh football record for three seasons was 11-4-1 and, after four years as a defensive coach, he became defensive coordinator in 1968 under John Bateman and continues in that role under Frank Bruns. Naso gave up his lacrosse duties in 1974 after 13 seasons and a 95-59-1 career record. Many of his stick squads were ranked among the nation's top teams and his squad twice appeared in the national playoffs. In 1969, he served as head coach of the North team in the annual North-South lacrosse game and was an assistant three other times. Naso, his wife, Carol, and their three daughters, Andrea (14), Cynthia (11), and Felicia (7), live in Piscataway.

WILLIAM SPERANZA

Offensive Coordinator and Backfield Coach

Bill was the starting quarterback on the undefeated Rutgers football team of 1961 and until last season held the school record for the longest pass completion (87 yards to Lee Curley against Princeton during the unbeaten season). Also a former baseball player at Rutgers, Speranza is in his third season as offensive backfield coach and in addition now serves as offensive coordinator. He is credited with the development of "JJ" Jennings as the national scoring leader in 1973. Speranza also had two perfect seasons as a coach, taking the Scarlet freshmen to identical 5-0 records in 1965 and 1967. The 1962 Rutgers alumnus played on football teams that compiled 24 wins in 27 games and on baseball squads that showed a combined 40-14 mark. Following a three-year 15-5 record as frosh coach, Speranza took charge of the varsity defensive backs in 1968 and has had such fine athletes as Larry Clymer and Sam Chapman under his tutelage. Bill and his wife, Linda, live in Somerville.

JAMES TAIGIA

Offensive Line Coach

His chiefly wisdom as a hard-nosed ex-sailor on the fine post-war Rutgers teams of the late forties earned Jim the nickname, "Chief," and the Scarlet linemen who have learned their trade from him over the years continue to respect him in kind. His insistent methods have motivated Rutgers linemen since 1968. A tough two-way guard on the Frank Burns-led teams, Taigia enjoyed an extensive scholastic coaching career prior to his appointment at his alma mater. The long-time resident of Highland Park served initially at Rahway, then at Piscataway and at Hillside before returning to Rahway. Like the popular investment broker, when Taigia talks, everybody listens; his particular investment being the development of blockers. As a player during the 47-48-49 seasons, "Chief" helped the Scarlet sail through 8-1, 7-2 and 6-3 records. The former well-known basketball official now lives with his wife, Ruth, in New Brunswick.

PETER SAVINO

Defensive Back Coach

Like his fellow coaches, Burns, Naso, Speranza and Taigia, Pete is a former Rutgers player; so versatile that he saw service in three different positions, at quarterback, wide receiver and defensive back. The 1969 alumnus was the first recipient of the New Brunswick Touchdown Club Trophy which recognized the impact his ability, leadership and dedication had during his career. A Belle Mead resident, Savino starred as a signal-caller at Perth Amboy where he also played basketball, baseball and was a member of the track squad. Named a Rutgers freshman assistant in 1969, he missed the following season because of a military obligation and returned to coach the frosh team for two seasons, winning seven of 13 games. He was chosen the defensive backfield coach in 1973 where his intimacy with his players is especially noteworthy. Savino's students rewarded his first season with a record 27 interceptions. Tony Pawlik and Ed Jones, now pros, were nationally ranked in that category and share the all-time interception mark with John Pollock at 14. Pete and his wife, Jill have a daughter, Suzanne Gail, 2½.

TED COTTRELL

Defensive Line Coach

The Scarlet defensive line is traditionally one of the closest knit of the team's units and under Cottrell last year, it was not only the most harmonious but clearly one of the best in Rutgers history. His imposing personality (and size) captured his charges in his first season here two years ago. A task master who wisely spreads his rewards, Ted employs the tactics he learned in four years of pro ball with the Atlanta Falcons and the Winnipeg Blue Bombers. Following his pro experience, Cottrell served for a season as assistant football coach and track mentor at his alma mater, Delaware Valley, where he won All-Middle Atlantic Conference honors three times. His rapport with the defensive line is especially noted when he leads calisthenics and gets back much vocal support. His veterans and his young learners respect his dedication and his enthusiasm. Ted lives in New Brunswick with his wife, Barbara.

RICHARD CURL

Varsity Receivers Coach and Sub-Varsity Coach

Dick joined the Rutgers staff this spring and will work with wide receivers and tight ends as well as direct the sub-varsity program. His appointment follows a year as head coach at Trenton State where he guided the Lions to a 5-4-1 record after serving a season as offensive coordinator. Previously, Curl coached at Cherry Hill East High School for five years. One of his scholastic stars, Mark Twitty, is the starting Scarlet wide receiver and another of his high school players, Pete Zaknich, is a reserve offensive guard. A native of Chester, Pa., Curl is a 1962 graduate of Richmond where he lettered as a quarterback and received an A.B. degree in history. His graduate work was completed at Bloomsburg State and Glassboro State. The popular South Jersey scholastic coach is a natural to assume recruiting duties in that area. Dick and his wife, Beverly, reside in Cinnaminson and are the parents of three daughters, Debbie (14), Karen (12), and Susan (6).

PART-TIME ASSISTANT COACHES

The Rutgers coaching staff will include three part-time assistant coaches this season. JACK HOHNSTINE, a 1966 Rutgers graduate and now a teacher in the Edison School system, will be helping in the secondary. PAUL VITEK, a Columbia alumnus who is advertising and promotions manager for the Rutgers Press and sales manager for the Rutgers Athletic News, will help coach the offensive backs. CARY HAMRAH, a 1955 graduate of St. Michaels and a guidance counselor at Woodbridge High School, will work with the defensive linemen.

*Captain of team did most of coaching during these years. Rutgers did not compete in 1871.

Frederick E. Gruninger

Director of Athletics

A member of the Rutgers Athletic Department since 1964, Fred Gruninger assumed the duties of Athletic Director in January, 1973. Nearly into his third year at the post, he continues to head an expanding program of sports with unbridled enthusiasm and sure ability. Chief of his tireless efforts is to spread the word about what the State University is achieving in athletics.

"We have sought to make the program totally effective in each sport, men's and women's, without exception. We will continue to provide every possible opportunity for all of our undergraduates to participate."

Gruninger is a 1953 Rutgers alumnus who played football and baseball as an undergraduate and later excelled in golf, turning professional for a brief period. He coached the Scarlet golf team from 1964 through the 1972 season and posted an outstanding record of 109-30-2.

Prior to his current appointment, Gruninger served as assistant, then associate athletic director for nine years after a five-year period in the alumni relations department.

A native of East Orange and a resident of Martinsville, Gruninger earned his master's degree from Rutgers in 1961. He served a number of years as a high school teacher and coach. He and his wife, Barbara, are the parents of three children, Mark, Katherine and John.

Donald Heilman, Assistant Director

After six years as head football coach at Kutztown State, Bud Heilman joined the Rutgers staff as offensive line coach in 1966. He was named assistant to the director of athletics in 1969 and continued to serve as an assistant in football, coaching the defensive line for two more seasons. A York, Pa., native and a West Chester State graduate, Heilman coached at Pennsylvania and Delaware high schools before becoming a varsity assistant at Bloomsburg State. He resides in Spotswood and his wife, Nancy, and he are the parents of seven children. His son, Buddy, is a senior halfback on the Scarlet varsity.

Otto H. Hill, Business Manager

A member of the Rutgers staff since 1947, Otto Hill was appointed business manager of athletics in 1961. He is a 1942 Rutgers graduate and served in the Army and Air Force prior to earning his master's degree in 1947. A member of the football staff for nine years, Hill also coached the freshman swimming team for that period while adding the varsity responsibility in 1953-54. The Brooklyn native, and his wife, Elizabeth, are the parents of three and live in Franklin Township. His son, John, is an offensive lineman for the New York Giants.

BOSTON UNIVERSITY, November 15 in Boston, Massachusetts. Depart from the Gym Friday morning, stopping at the Yankee Drummer Restaurant at Exit 10 on the Massachusetts Turnpike for lunch, arriving in time for an afternoon workout. Lodging and meals will be at the Sonesta Hotel. Return following the game.

RUTGERS FOOTBALL ON THE AIR

Rutgers football can now be heard in more localities than ever before with two AM and two FM stations carrying the play-by-play action of all 11 Scarlet contests. Tony Marano, "The Voice of Rutgers Sports" will again be handling the action with assistance from WCTC sports director Lee Shirvanian. This is Marano's 24th season of Rutgers football, and the color commentary by Shirvanian adds what has been recognized as the most thorough and intelligent analysis anywhere on the college scene today. In addition to his regular sports shows, Shirvanian has been doing basketball play-by-play for area high schools and for Rutgers' nationally ranked basketball teams with Marano. Vice President and general manager of radio stations WCTC (1450 AM) and WQMR (98.3 FM in New Brunswick, Marano has broadcast a remarkable 217 consecutive Rutgers games during his career, and his thousands of listeners in Central Jersey will be joined this year for the first time by the metropolitan audience covered by WWDJ Radio (970 AM) in Hackensack. WRSU (88.7 FM) in New Brunswick is the student radio of the State University and offers a refreshing insight into sports coverage from a campus angle. All four stations will begin their coverage for 1975 with the Bucknell game, September 20. Stay tuned for more good news.

THE SCARLET KNIGHTS

JOHN ALEXANDER, 19, 6-3, 240 junior defensive tackle from Plainfield . . . Coach's Quote: "John had a fine sophomore season. It may be hard to believe, but he has been working hard on improving his strength. He already has the size, quickness, speed and attitude to make All-America, and he should make it before he graduates. He has tremendous potential and leads by doing." . . . Rutgers Experience: Lettered in 1973 and 1974, was the ninth leading tackler on the team with 52 stops last season, causing one fumble and breaking up five passes. His speed and power were evidenced in two blocked kicks. He also blocked a field goal attempt as a freshman. One of only four team members to earn two letters, all of which are on defense. Majoring in history at Livingston College. He is a sure starter again after starting in all 11 games last year. . . . Scholastic Background: Attended Plainfield High School where he was a teammate of Dwight Lipscomb, an outside linebacker who is one of two three-letter winners. John made the all-area and all-county teams as a two-way tackle, and also earned letters in basketball and baseball. . . 1974 Varsity Statistics: (Tackles) Prim. Asst. 10/ Total 52.

MONJURE ALI, 21, 5-11, 170, senior free safety from Atlantic City. Coach's Quote: "Munji" has good quickness and is one of the fastest men on the team. He had a good spring game and is slated to start after playing in the shadow of Tony Pawlik. Tony will be playing for the New Orleans Saints this fall. With consistency, "Munji" should have an outstanding year." . . . Rutgers Experience: Played mostly with the junior varsity last fall as a defensive back after being switched from wide receiver the previous spring. Used on the varsity in kick rush situations. He is studying toward a degree in psychology at Rutgers College. . . . Scholastic Background: MVP two years in a row at Holy Spirit High School in Absecon where he played wide receiver and defensive back. Also lettered in track and set a school record in the 440 (49.0).

MATTHEW B. ALLISON, 21, 6-2, 195, junior quarterback from Denville. . . . Coach's Quote: "Matt made great strides in readjusting himself to football last year after a year of professional baseball and a year of non-participation in junior college (County College of Morris). He has the confidence he needs now to play on the varsity and should challenge for a starting job in the pre-season. Having him and Bert Kosup will make this a solid position depth and talent-wise." . . . Rutgers Experience: Started for the junior varsity last season, and saw action in four varsity contests. Played behind starter Bert Kosup and graduated Steve Havran most of last season. He saw varsity action for the first time in the Lafayette win (35-0), completing three of three pass attempts for 27 yards and a touchdown. He is a physical education major at Livingston College. . . . Scholastic Background: Matt was graduated from Morris Knolls High School in 1972 after making all-state teams in football and baseball. He also made the all-county and all-area teams in both sports. After signing a baseball contract with the Philadelphia Phillies, he played one summer with the farm club in Pulaski, Va. before being moved up to AAA ball the following spring. After deciding to give up the minor league chase, at least for the time being, he enrolled in junior college with hopes of landing one of the former scholarship offers made to him as a football quarterback. 1974 Varsity Statistics: (Passing) Att. 25 - Comp. 14/Yds. 194/Int. 1/TD's. 1; (Rushing) Att. 4/Yds. -4/TD's 0.

TIMOTHY M. BLANCHARD, 19, 6-1, 205, sophomore linebacker from Randolph. . . . Coach's Quote: "Tim had an excellent spring and wound up as a starter beside Tom Holmes at the inside positions. He will still be pushed by another sophomore, Elvin Washington, in the pre-season drills, but will see considerable action this fall regardless. He has excellent lateral movement to go with his size and speed. His tackling fundamentals are very sound." . . . Rutgers Experience: A starter for the junior varsity last fall, but did not get any varsity playing time. Moved up as far as third team linebacker in the pre-season drills at the Peddie School. Called Tim and "Blanch." Majoring in business at Cook College. . . . Scholastic Background: Tim was named to the All-all-state, all-county and all-area teams while at Randolph High School where he was graduated in 1974. Also played at halfback and quarterback and lettered in basketball. . . . Scholastic Background: A 1974 graduate of Randolph High School, Tim made all-state, all-area and all-county and lettered in basketball.

WILLIAM J. BRADLEY, 22, 6-0, 190, senior kicking specialist from Old Bridge. . . . Coach's Comment: "Bill showed a great deal of improvement in spring drills, kicking with greater consistency and distance. He gets good height and depth on his kick offs. He'll be counted on heavily in the fall. . . . We have a great deal of admiration for the way Bill has overcome his handicap (Polio as a child)" . . . Rutgers Experience: Lettered in 1974. Started last season with the winning field goal over Bucknell (16-14), with one second remaining in the game. Alternated the regular kicking assignments with Bill Blackmon through the season, having his best day in field goals against Air Force (a 20-3 win) with two. His longest was 27. Majoring in economics at Rutgers College. . . . Scholastic Background: Made all-county at Madison Township High School in his senior year, 1972, setting every school kicking record. Selected third team all-state in baseball and set every school pitching record. . . 1974 Varsity Statistics: (PAT's), Att. 18/Made 14 (FG's) Att. 10/Made 4.

DUSTIN F. BRYAN, 20, 6-1 180, junior strong safety from Doylestown, PA. . . . Coach's Quote: "We switched Dusty this spring to the defensive backfield where we suffered some big losses due to the graduation of all but one starter. He adapted with a willing attitude, and his experience as an offensive receiver should help him although he still has some learning to do. A very aggressive player." . . . Rutgers Experience: Lettered in 1974 as a split end. Dusty led the varsity in pass receptions last year, getting his first starting assignment in the William and Mary game and playing in a total of seven games. His longest catch was a 30-yarder against Colgate. Played defense with the junior varsity as a freshman. A Rutgers College student, majoring in education with hopes of going into coaching. . . . Scholastic Background: Graduated from Central Bucks West High School in 1973, he was selected for the All-Suburban Philadelphia, and all-county teams and received honorable mention on the prestigious Big 33. Played in the Bucks County All-Star game. He also lettered in baseball, making the all-league team two years in a row. . . 1974 Varsity Statistics: (Receiving) Cgt. 18/Yds. 266/ TD's 1.

JOSEPH F. (Pete) CLARK, 21, 6-1, 215, senior tight end from New Brunswick. . . . Coach's Quote: "Pete really came through for us in a tight spot last year after starting out pre-season practice as a defensive end. He improved his blocking during the spring although Jon Walling won the starting battle. He still must work on his pass catching, but Pete is a very hard worker. He will certainly make his contribution felt." . . . Rutgers Experience: Lettered in 1974. Pete was elevated from the junior varsity defense to starting tight end prior to the home opener against Lehigh (a 37-16 win) last season, and he maintained that status until this spring. Finished the season tied for fifth in receptions with a long gainer of 14 yards, good for a touchdown against William and Mary. He has also played junior varsity basketball and baseball. A Rutgers College student, he is majoring in history with ambitions of teaching and coaching after graduation. . . . Scholastic Background: An all-state and all-county footballer at St. Peter's High School, he was graduated in 1972. Also earned all-county honors in basketball and baseball. . . . Varsity Statistics: (Receiving) Cgt 8/Yds. 84/TD's 2.

WILLIAM A. CLARKE, 19, 6-4, 220, sophomore defensive tackle from New Shrewsbury. . . . Coach's Quote: "Bill projected himself into the starting picture this spring with a good effort. He has good movement and strength and is quick, but needs to become a little more consistent in his play. He'll be able to play at all three interior positions." . . . Rutgers Experience: Listed as a third string varsity tackle last fall, he started for the junior varsity. He earned a backup spot to John Alexander in the spring. A communications major at Cook College, he is thinking about a career in journalism. . . . Scholastic Background: A 1974 graduate of Monmouth Regional High School, he was selected third team all-state and first team all-shore and all-county. Bill also lettered in golf, wrestling and track, making all-shore in wrestling and all-county in golf.

JAMES P. CLEMENTS, 21, 6-2, 215, senior guard from Lexington, MA. . . . Coach's Quote: "Jim has been a quick learner and should be ready to take advantage of an opportunity to move up from the number two spot at either guard spot although he was slotted behind Tony Ray at the right side after the spring. He is one of the smartest of the interior men." . . . Rutgers Experience: Played behind Bill Fenn at tackle last season after being switched from tight end in 1973 to guard. A business administration major at Rutgers College. . . . Scholastic Background: A 1972 graduate of Lexington High School, he lettered in football and track and was school MVP in the latter, participating in the high jump and high hurdles.

ROBERT W. DAVIS, 19, 6-0, 175, sophomore free safety from Westfield. . . . Coach's Quote: "To put it simply, Bob is extremely tough...he loves the contact of the sport. He has good lateral range and body control, but will need the experience he gets at free safety after playing a year as a back up at strong safety. He may also see action at that position this fall." . . . Rutgers Experience: Bob's career got off to a slow start when he suffered a broken wrist in pre-season camp last year. He recovered in time to start every junior varsity game and back up Jim Teatom on the varsity. He is following a liberal arts curriculum at Rutgers College. . . . Scholastic Background: A quarterback and defensive back at Westfield High School last year, he received all-Metro area honors. Also won letters in baseball and basketball.

KEITH G. DAVIS, 20, 5-10, 157, sophomore halfback from Westfield. . . . Coach's Quote: "Keith finished the spring as our starting left halfback, after a look in the defensive backfield. He now seems set to stay on offense. Excellent speed, and he improved greatly in his blocking during the spring." . . . Rutgers Experience: Lettered in 1974. Keith had an outstanding junior varsity game against Villanova and was moved up to the varsity the next week against William and Mary. Wound up the year as the varsity's fourth top rusher with his longest run, a 76-yarder for a touchdown against Colgate (a 62-21 win). He was also used on kickoff returns, but returned only one for 27 yards. A business administration major at Rutgers College. . . . Scholastic Background: An all-state, all-county and all-area halfback at Westfield High School where he was graduated in 1972. Attended Milford Academy in 1973. Lettered in track at Westfield and set a school record in the low hurdles (19.3). . . . Varsity Statistics: (Rushing) Att. 27/Yds. 194/TD's 1.

LEONARD E. DAVIS, 19, 6-3, 195, sophomore defensive end from Newark. . . . Coach's Quote: "Len backed up Dwight Lipscomb at our combination end and outside linebacker position last year and will be expected to play at either end of the line this year. He has good height and speed with quick reflexes against the run and good range versus the pass. He has a lot of potential." . . . Rutgers Experience: When Lipscomb was injured in pre-season drills last year, Len stepped up to a starting spot in a scrimmage against Yale and maintained a number two position throughout the season. This year he is also slated as a back up to Nate Toran on the left side of the line. Enrolled in the College of Engineering. . . . Scholastic Background: A three-sport star at Newark's East Side High School, he lettered in football, basketball and track. Made first team all-city and all-area and third team all-county in football as a two-way end and was all-city and third team all-state in basketball. He won the city high jump championship in 1971 and 1972.

MARK R. DEBES, 20, 6-6, 215, junior tight end from Martinsville. . . . Coach's Quote: "Mark showed a great deal of character after a rather disappointing finish last season. His improvement in the spring was remarkable. He has the ability to catch the ball, although he still must work on his blocking." . . . Rutgers Experience: Lettered in 1974. Mark missed the early part of 1974 pre-season camp with an infected big toe, but advanced quickly to a starting position. Started the first three games, but was replaced by Pete Clark for the Lehigh game (a 37-16 win), and never regained his starting berth. Wound up fifth in receptions with two touchdowns and a long gain of 24 yards. Majoring in physical education at Rutgers College. . . . Scholastic Background: Mark earned all-area, all-county and third team all-state as an end and safety at Bridgewater-East High School where he was graduated in 1973. Also lettered for four years in basketball and baseball. . . . Varsity Statistics: (Receiving) Cgt. 8/Yds.87/TD's 2.

DENNIS P. ECKELS, 19, 6-3, 235, sophomore defensive tackle from Easton, CT. . . . Coach's Quote: "Denny came to us as almost an unexpected arrival in pre-season camp last year, although we had recruited him earnestly before that. Although he was not counted among our original scholarship freshmen, he soon proved that he was a solid citizen in the offensive line. He has considerable athletic ability to go along with his size, and after being switched to defensive tackle during the spring, he pushed for a starting spot. He will get another chance to move up this summer at the Peddie School." . . . Rutgers Experience: Started for the junior varsity offense last year and was listed as a number three right guard. Moved to defensive tackle in the spring. Enrolled in the College of Engineering. . . . Scholastic Background: Made all-county as an offensive tackle and defensive end at Bridgeport Notre Dame High School. He threw the javelin in track and set a county record.

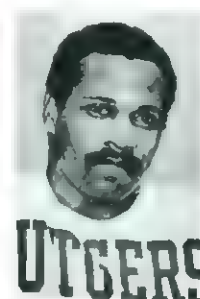

CURTIS C. EDWARDS, 22, 6-1, 200, senior fullback from Matawan. . . . Coach's Quote: "Curt earned the nickname 'Baby Bull' for his obvious style of gaining yards on sheer power even when his blockers may not have made a hole. He missed spring practice, though, due to health problems, but is expected back in school for the fall. He will, however, have to earn his starting position back from Jeff Greczyn who had an excellent spring and gained close to 100 yards in the spring game." . . . Rutgers Experience: Lettered in 1974. Curt was a starting tailback for JV's as a freshman and backed up "JJ" Jennings as a sophomore when the latter was leading the nation in scoring. Last year he played fullback as the offense was changed to the winged-T, and he wound up gaining 889 yards and scoring five touchdowns. As the team's leading rusher, he gained over 100 yards in a game four times. Named to the weekly ECAC all-star team three times, he turned in a season high of 147 yards against Air Force, (a 20-3 win) but missed the Connecticut game the following week because of a head injury suffered against the Falcons. Gained 139 yards on 23 carries in the 6-6 tie with Princeton. Curt hopes to enter medical school after graduation from Cook College in Nutritional Science. . . . Scholastic Background: Earned all-state, all-county and all-Shore honors at Matawan Regional High School. Prepped at Columbian School in Washington, D.C. before matriculating at Rutgers. He was a district wrestling champion at Matawan and lettered in wrestling, track and football. . . . Varsity Statistics: (Rushing) 1973/Att. 14/Yds. 96/TD's. 2, 1974/Att. 189/Yds. 889/TD's. 5. (Receiving) 1974 Cgt. 3/Yds. 26/TD's. 0

JOHN FEDORCHAK, 19, 6-2, 225, sophomore center from Cranford. . . . Coach's Quote: "The only thing that John lacks is game experience and he will get plenty early. He finished spring drills, number one, and we expect him to hold his status through the pre-season. He is strong and intelligent, but has big shoes to fill...those of graduated co-captain Andy Zdobylak." . . . Rutgers Experience: Alternated as a starter for the junior varsity and as a back up for Zdobylak on the varsity. He is majoring in physical education at Rutgers College. . . . Scholastic Background: Made all-conference, all-county in football at Cranford High School and lettered in wrestling and track. He was the conference, district and regional champion in his weight class in wrestling and participated on teams that won the conference titles in football and track. He was named the outstanding senior athlete at Cranford.

WILLIAM B. FENN, 21, 6-4, 230, senior tackle from Poughkeepsie, NY. . . . Coach's Quote: "Bill emerged as a consistent, fast-learning offensive lineman, and started most of the way at right tackle. He had a very good spring, and should have a very good year with some increased quickness." . . . Rutgers Experience: Lettered in 1974. After starting 1974 pre-season workouts as a fourth string lineman, Bill moved up gradually until he won a starting berth in the Princeton game which he never relinquished. Pitched as a starter on the varsity baseball team in 1972 and 1973. Missed last spring because of academic commitment. An electrical engineering major at the College of Engineering. . . . Scholastic Background: Received the "Best All-Around Senior Athlete" award at Arlington Park High School in 1972 after lettering in football, basketball and baseball. Accorded all-county honors in football.

DAVID FIGUEROA, 21, 6-1, 180, sophomore cornerback from Hoboken. . . . Coach's Quote: "He and Jim Teatom (strong safety) comprise the experience in our secondary. He has outstanding athletic ability and is an extremely hard worker. Perhaps his greatest asset as a defensive back is to recover quickly when he is caught out of position. He will definitely be a starter for us this fall." . . . Rutgers Experience: Lettered in 1974. Played last season as a back up to graduated Andy Farkas and Ed Jones on the varsity and this together with his playing time on the specialty teams earned him a letter. Wound up the spring as the starter at right corner. His brother, Angelo, played on the 1973 varsity. He also goes by the nickname, "Fig." A liberal arts major at Rutgers College. . . . Scholastic Background: An all-county receiver and defensive back at Hoboken High School where he was graduated in 1973. Also lettered in track and basketball. . . . Varsity Statistics: (Tackles) 1974 Prim 5/Asst. 5/ Tot. 10.

MICHAEL M. FISHER, 19, 5-11, 187, sophomore halfback from Edison. . . Coach's Quote: "This will be Mike's second year as a starter at right halfback, and his year of experience in the winged-T should set up a very promising career. He is an excellent blocker, and learned last year to become much more disciplined in running his pass routes. His running instincts are natural as evidenced by some of the big plays and long runs he sprung last year. He should be even better as a sophomore. . . ." Rutgers Experience: Lettered in 1974. Mike was one of two freshman starters when Rutgers opened last year's campaign at Bucknell (a 16-14 win), the other being tackle Tony Ray. His best game statistically was the Lafayette contest (a 35-0 win) in which he rushed for 104 yards, earning runner-up honors for ECAC Rookie of the Week. He was Rutgers' second leading rusher in 1974 with a long gainer of 79 yards in the Colgate game. He was fourth in receiving. A business administration major at Rutgers College. . . . Scholastic Background: Garnered all-state, all-conference, and all-area honors at Edison High School where he was graduated in 1974. Also lettered in basketball. . . . Varsity Statistics: (Rushing) 1974 Att. 102/Yds. 622/ TD's 2. (Receiving) 1974 Cgt. 9/Yds. 182/TD's 0.

DANIEL T. GRAY, 19, 6-6, 225, sophomore defense tackle from Delaware (NJ) . . . Coach's Quote: "Dan is a hard worker who will use his size well at tackle or middle guard. His future as a player looks good. He possesses quickness, speed and toughness. These qualities helped earn him a starting slot in the spring." . . . Rutgers Experience: Started for the junior varsity and held down a number three spot at defensive end on the varsity. Majoring in biology at Cook College with an eye to teaching . . . Scholastic Background: An all-county, all-conference and all-area pick as a senior at Belvidere High School in 1974. He also lettered in wrestling and baseball.

JEFFREY A. GRECZYN, 20, 6-3, 215, junior fullback from Cranbury. . . . Coach's Quote: "Jeff got a lot of work last spring because of the absence of Curt Edwards. During that time he impressed us quite a bit and built his own confidence. He has improved greatly in his running techniques, and his performance in the spring game (98 yards in 20 carries) earned him the starting slot for the fall. Jeff comes from a very athletic family... he has younger twin sisters who we understand are going to college this year on scholarships." . . . Rutgers Experience: Lettered in 1974. Jeff was switched from a halfback to a fullback during pre-season drills last year to utilize his size. He got some early junior varsity action in order to sharpen his blocking techniques and played as both a back up halfback and fullback on the varsity. His only start of the year was against Harvard (a 24-21 win), although he did see action in most of the other games. A special education major at Rutgers College. . . . Scholastic Background: Third team all-state, All-Delaware Valley, All-Shore and All-Suburban at Hightstown High School as a senior, 1973. Played in every basketball game for three years and was presented the Sportsmanship Trophy . . . Varsity Statistics: (Rushing) 1974/Att 21/Yds. 76/TD's 0. . . (Receiving) Cgt. 2/Yds. 21/TD's 0.

TOM HALASZ, 19, 6-0, 204, sophomore center from East Brunswick. Coach's Quote: "Tom is the type of center that can work against a quick nose guard, mainly because he is generally quicker. He had a good spring as we expected, but he is slotted behind another sophomore, John Fedorchak. One or the other of the two must prove to be consistent enough to win and maintain a starting job in the pre-season camp." . . . Rutgers Experience: Tom was number three on the varsity depth chart last year behind graduated co-captain Andy Zdobylyak and Fedorchak. He and Fedorchak split the centering duties on the junior varsity. Tom is majoring in forestry at Cook College. . . Scholastic Background: The 1974 graduate of East Brunswick High School was named to the all-county and all-state teams.

DONALD C. HEILMAN, 21, 5-10, 175, senior halfback from Spotswood. . . Coach's Quote: " 'Buddy' is probably the fastest man on the team and was excused from spring practice to run the sprints on the track team. Unfortunately, he pulled a hamstring during the first meet. He should be ready by the start of the pre-season drills. His experience will give the offensive backfield talent and depth. Right now he's spotted behind Fisher at right halfback." . . . Rutgers Experience: Lettered in 1974. "Buddy" ran a reverse for a 65-yard touchdown against Lehigh (a 37-16 victim) and again scored on a reverse in the Lafayette game, this time from 16-yards out. Fifth on the team in rushing and kickoff returns. Majoring in anthropology at Cook College. . . . Scholastic Background: Named Middlesex County Scholar Athlete at South River High School in 1972, South River being noted for its production of high caliber athletes. He lettered in both football and track. . . . Varsity Statistics: (Rushing) 1973 Att. 3/Yds. -8/TD's 0; 1974 Att. 14/Yds. 140/TD's 3. . . (Kickoff Returns) 1973 No. 5/Yds. 10/TD's 0; 1974 No. 1 Yds. 24/TD's 0.

STEVEN HOFFMAN, 21, 6-5, 230, senior middle guard from West Islip, N.Y. . . Coach's Quote: "Steve is a tremendous pass rusher. He is extremely quick for his size, and his height is a particular advantage. He will play both at tackle and at middle guard with equal effectiveness. He has that ready attitude that coaches love to work with. Steve will be a key man for us, although he is not currently listed as a starter." . . . Rutgers Experience: Letter in 1974. Steve was edged out as starting middle guard by graduated Tom Mannon just before the start of last season. He did step in for Mannon for the Lafayette game when the latter was injured. Recovered two fumbles last year and broke up a pass. Majoring in business administration at Cook College. . . . Scholastic Background: An all-county center and defensive tackle at Massapequa where he was a 1972 graduate. Also lettered in basketball and baseball. . . Varsity Statistics: (Tackles) 1974 Prim 5/Asst.4/ Total 9.

THOMAS R. HOLMES, 21, 6-2, 220 senior linebacker from Miami. . . Coach's Quote: "Tommy is a linebacker with few equals. He uses his intelligence on the field in leading the defense as our signal caller. Takes on blocks well from linemen of all sizes, and reads the play well on the move. Great reactions. Tommy made All-East last year and he really should gain even more honors this year. He has to be credited a lot for the success we had as a team last year when our defense was nationally ranked. He was, after all, our leading tackler." . . . Rutgers Experience: Letter in 1972, 1973 and 1974. Tom was promoted to the varsity for the last three games of his freshman year, making him the second freshman to play varsity ball since 1954. He was selected to several All-East teams last year and was named Eastern Independent Player of the Week last year for his work in the 20-3 win over Air Force; had a team high of five fumbles caused: A ceramic engineering student. . . Scholastic Background: Elected defensive captain at Coral Park High School as a senior, 1972, when he received mention on the All-Miami selection. Also lettered in wrestling. Varsity Statistics: (Tackles) 1974 Prim 90/Asst. 34/Total 124.

JAMES R. HUGHES, 19, 6-3, 205, sophomore linebacker from Verona. . . Coach's Quote: "Jim should learn a lot from playing behind Tom Holmes. His only shortcoming is in taking on blockers and he will improve in this area as he gets playing experience. He has, as they say, all the tools...size, strength, range and speed. He will definitely give us a solid depth picture at linebacker." . . . Rutgers Experience: A starting linebacker for the junior varsity throughout last season and a back-up on the varsity. A special education major at Cook College. . . Scholastic Background: A 1974 graduate of Verona High School, he was picked on the all-state, all-county and all-conference first teams. He also lettered in basketball and baseball.

HENRY JENKINS, 20, 5-9, 155, junior halfback from Newark. . . Coach's Quote: "Hank was a real surprise in spring practice where we looked at him as both a halfback and wide receiver. He is a very rugged competitor who plays much bigger than his vital statistics. His performance in the spring game as a halfback was impressive and that is where he will play next fall. He has excellent hands and good cutting ability." . . . Rutgers Experience: Transferred to Rutgers from Scottsdale, (Ariz.) Junior College. No playing experience for the Scarlet. . . Scholastic Background: A 1973 graduate of West Side High School where he made All-Newark, and third team all-county. He played quarterback on the grid team and also lettered in basketball.

ALBERT J. KOSUP, 20, 5-11, 180, junior quarterback from Edison. . . Coach's Quote: "Bert became much more aware of the total game after a year of starting experience and showed more improvement in the spring. But, he was feeling the pressure from Matt Allison in the spring, and he will have to be very consistent in pre-season camp to remain the starter. He did an excellent job of passing and running the option in the spring." . . . Rutgers Background: Letter in 1974. Bert is one of only a few sophomore signal callers at Rutgers to go over 1,000 yards passing and total offense. He started every game in 1974 and led the Scarlet to several offensive records and a national season high of 781 total offensive yards in the Colgate game. His 1,206 yards ranks him among the top ten in Rutgers history. He led the team in scoring with 36 points on six touchdowns. He played varsity baseball as a freshman and threw for nine more. A physical education major at Livingston College. . . Scholastic Background: A 1973 graduate of J. P. Stevens High School, Bert was an all-county quarterback and lettered in baseball and basketball. . . Varsity Statistics: (Passing) 1974 Att. 150/Cmp. 64/Yds. 1070/Int. 15/TD's 9; (Rushing) Att. 80/Yds. 136/TD's 6.

DWIGHT A. LIPSCOMB, 21, 6-2, 210, senior outside linebacker from Plainfield. . . Coach's Quote: "Dwight plays a position in our defensive line that adjusts from a defensive end assignment to an outside linebacker, depending on the situation. He handles this role especially well because of his footwork and ability to take on the lead blocker. Dwight was another of the important contributors to our nationally ranked defense and he deserves any all-star credit that he might get. He is a leader...an excellent tackler, but above all, a leader." . . . Rutgers Experience: Lettered in 1972, 1973 and 1974...one of two three-year lettermen on team. As a freshman, Dwight became one of the first rookies to letter at Rutgers since 1954. He missed the opener against Bucknell due to an ankle injury last fall but came back quickly, ranking among the big play makers. He caused four fumbles, only one less than linebacker, Tom Holmes, and recovered three himself. He recorded three sacks for 13 lost yards. He is also active on campus as a singer. A business administration major at Rutgers College. . . Scholastic Background: An all-county and all-area player at Plainfield High School where he was a teammate of John Alexander. A 1972 graduate, he also lettered in track and basketball. . . Varsity Statistics: (Tackles) 1974 Prim 36/Asst. 17/Total 53.

JOSEPH MELE, JR., 20, 6-0, 190, junior halfback from New Providence. . . Coach's Quote: "Joe made great strides during the spring and will be battling for a backup spot in the fall. He blocked well and improved his running over last year. Consistency is the key to a good season for him." . . . Rutgers Experience: Started for the junior varsity last fall, and led the team in rushing, getting into only one varsity game. Majoring in biology at Rutgers with plans of entering dental school after graduation. . . Scholastic Background: All-State, all-area and all-county honors at New Providence where he was graduated in 1973. Also letter in track. . . Varsity Statistics: (Rushing) 1974 Att. 2/Yds. 15/TD's 0.

JOSEPH MOSS, 20, 6-3, 205, sophomore defensive end from Toronto, ONT, CAN. . . Coach's Quote: "Joe is a transfer from the Air Force Academy. This spring he worked on increasing his strength. He already had good movement for his size and displayed a fine attitude...really a hard worker. Needs only consistency and game experience now. We're counting on him as a punter, too." . . . Rutgers Experience: No Rutgers playing experience. Currently listed as second team behind All-East Nate Toran. Majoring in economics at Livingston College. . . Scholastic Background: Joe made the second team All-South Jersey team as a tight end at Cherry Hill West (NJ) High School where he was graduated in 1973. Also lettered in golf and basketball.

REGINALD M. MOULTRIE, 19, 6-0, 175, sophomore cornerback from Browns Mills . . . Coach's Quote: "We can't wait till Reggie gets some game experience this year after a very good job last year with the specialty teams. He is listed as a starter at the left corner. He is a good athlete all round with much better than average reactions." . . . Rutgers Experience: Although he did not letter last year, he saw action in a reserve role in the secondary and as a member of the specialty teams. A first teamer for the junior varsity. Played behind Ed Jones, who signed this year to play for the Dallas Cowboys (NFL). . . Scholastic Background: A 1974 graduate of Pemberton Township High School where he earned All-South Jersey, all-area and all-county honors, and lettered additionally in baseball. . . Varsity Statistics (Tackles) 1974 Prim. 2/Asst. 5/Total 7.

JAMES M. O'HALLORAN, 20, 6-2, 225, junior offensive tackle from Succasunna. Coach's Quote: "Jim made a surprising amount of progress learning offensive fundamentals this spring and though he lacks game experience, he doesn't lack the desire to play. Despite missing the spring game, he is slotted number one at a tackle post. His conversion from the defense (middle guard) has been very satisfactory, though the ankle injury late in the spring slowed his full progress." . . . Rutgers Experience: A non-letterman, O'Halloran did see action on defense last year at middle guard and at a tackle spot. Moved to the offense in the spring, he showed great progress until the day before the spring game. Much improved in strength, he could pick up the starting assignment this fall. . . Scholastic Background: An all-conference defensive end at Bayley Ellard Regional High in Madison where he also played as an offensive tackle and participated in track. He is a physical education major at Rutgers College.

MARTIN J. O'HARE, 19, 6-1, 175, sophomore wide receiver from Millburn. . . Coach's Quote: "Marty is an excellent athlete as his success in the decathlon proves. He has good hands and good speed and the potential to be a very fine receiver. He will have to work more on his blocking to become a complete player but we are very impressed with his dedication at improving himself." . . . Rutgers Experience: Marty missed most of the pre-season camp as a freshman and later underwent a knee operation which impeded his progress last year. He excelled in track, winning the New Jersey title in the decathlon and taking a second-place finish in the IC4A Championship. He is a strong hurdler and long jumper. Showed well as a starter in the spring game and could develop as a punter. He is an environmental science major at Cook College. . . Scholastic Background: Played split end and safety at Millburn High and was chosen all-state (Group III) as well as all-county and all-conference. Marty also played basketball and was a trackman, winning the state open long jump and being chosen the best all-round trackman in the state.

DANIEL L. PFABE, 20, 6-1, 220, junior offensive guard from Louisville, Ohio. . . Coach's Quote: "Dan has made the change from defense (linebacker) to offense very successfully and earned the number one slotting at the left guard position. He lacks game experience at the position but is strong and has good speed. He moves well and gets off the ball very well. He wants to play." . . . Rutgers Experience: Lettered in 1974. As a sophomore linebacker, Dan was always in the close depth picture, seeing action in eight games and picking up a start against Air Force. He was credited with 18 tackles, a dozen of them in a primary role, and had one fumble recovery. A bit reluctant to move to the offense, he sensed a starting job and made a quick adjustment in the spring. . . He plays baseball in the summer and would like to become a permanent New Jerseyan. He's an environmental planning major at Rutgers. Scholastic Background: Dan was an Ohio all-stater as a linebacker and fullback as well as playing basketball and track at St. Thomas Aquinas High.

ANTHONY RAY, 19, 5-11, 235, sophomore offensive guard from Newark. . . Coach's Quote: "Tony is our strongest and best blocker without a doubt. We moved him from his tackle spot where he played outstandingly all last year as a freshman. The move is intended to take advantage of his pulling skills and speed. We think he'll have lots of fun there and benefit us tremendously." . . . Rutgers Experience: Lettered in 1974. Tony asserted himself immediately at last year's fall camp and went on to start in every game, drawing quick attention as a tough, no-nonsense performer in the pit. His fire-plug stature belied his ability opposite more rangy opponents who gained immediate respect for his strength and speed, besides his determination. The move to guard is a natural one. He's a liberal arts student at Cook College. . . Scholastic Background: An East Side High School alumnus, Tony won four football letters and was all-city, all-county and all-state (Group III) in his junior and senior seasons. He was also a four-year performer in track.

JEFFREY A. REBHOLZ, 19, 6-2, 195, sophomore quarterback from Millington. . . Coach's Quote: "Jeff has shown considerable improvement over the year and is still learning the total system. We were pleased with his spring game performance and feel he will improve although he will be with the sub-varsity unit in the fall." . . . Rutgers Background: A sub-varsity back-up signal-caller as a freshman, Jeff has ideal size for a quarterback but has a background as a drop-back passer and has to learn the winged-T system. He showed good poise in the spring game, hitting on a pair of completions. He majors in Business Administration at Rutgers College. . . Scholastic Background: Jeff played football at St. Charles High in St. Charles, Ill., for two seasons before moving to Millington, N.J., where he attended Watchung Hills Regional High. He was a quarterback and defensive back and also played baseball and basketball. He participated only in basketball, making the all-conference team, at Watchung.

EDGAR D. ROBINSON, 20, 6-1, 190, senior defensive end from Newark. . . . Coach's Quote: "Although Ed missed spring practice, we're certain he will give us depth at the defensive end position and again expect that he will be an important part of our special teams. His experience will be valuable to our defense." . . . Rutgers Experience: Lettered in 1973 and 1974. Ed was moved over to the defense after spending his freshman and sophomore years as a promising offensive back. The move was designed to give a talented player a chance to play more. Last year he lettered for the defense, appearing in 10 games and getting credit for 22 tackles, half of them as a primary tackler with two sacks. Robby is a physical education major at Rutgers College. . . . Scholastic Background: Robby earned two letters in football at Shabazz High (formerly South Side) in Newark where he also participated in baseball and basketball. He was a two-way end in high school. Varsity Statistics: (Tackles) 1974 Prim. 11/Asst. 11/Total 22.

NICHOLAS M. SAUTER, 20, 6-5, 266, junior offensive tackle from Totowa. . . . Coach's Quote: "It was unfortunate that Nick missed some of the work that would have proved valuable to him during the spring. The knee injury kept him from a full battle with Bill Fenn for the starting job at a tackle but he will have an opportunity in the fall to compete with Fenn again. He needs work on quickness, but he will play." . . . Rutgers Experience: Lettered in 1974. Played strictly on defense as a freshman but moved to the offensive side last year and won the starting job in the pre-season. Nick started the first two contests before losing the spot to Bill Fenn for the rest of the year. He needs only a bit more experience to become a regular. Nick is a liberal arts major at Rutgers College. . . . Scholastic Background: A third team all-stater at Passaic Valley. Nick participated in track for two seasons and wrestled for one. He took the county shot putt title but concentrates on football at Rutgers.

STEVEN P. SIMEK, 22, 6-1, 205, senior defensive back and punter from Gibbstown. . . . Coach's Quote: "Steve will give us security in the defensive secondary but his prime job will be as a punter." . . . Rutgers Experience: Lettered in 1974. Steve shared the punting chores last season with John Piccirillo and the Indiana transfer still seeks the long distance consistency that will make him a top-notch booter. He averaged 36.8 yards on a team-leading 40 kicks last season. He is a physical education major at Cook College. . . . Scholastic Background: Captain and quarterback of his Paulsboro High School squad. Steve was an all-county, all-conference and all-Group I selection while also earning three letters in baseball and one in basketball.

WILLIAM H. STEBBINS, 19, 6-4, 245, sophomore offensive tackle from Barnegat. . . Coach's Quote: "Once Bill learns a few more of the intricacies of the offensive system, he is expected to make a valuable contribution. He has great size and moves well. He's a good blocker, had a good spring practice and shows a lot of promise. His spring earned him the number two slot at his position." . . . Rutgers Experience: Bill was a sub-varsity performer as a freshman. He is in the marine biology curriculum at Cook College. . . . Scholastic Background: Though a resident of Barnegat, Bill attended Woodrow Wilson High School in Camden where he earned four letters in football and one in baseball. He was a second team all-conference pick as a tackle.

JOHN R. STRYS, 20, 6-1, 218, junior offensive guard from Wharton. . . Coach's Quote: "We expect John to see lots of action at the left guard spot. Now slotted after the spring in the second unit, he needs work on his pass protection and he is totally dedicated to improvement in this area. He's made tremendous progress." . . . Rutgers Experience: Lettered in 1974. John played as a defensive end for two seasons, always flirting with a spot in the depth picture and then enjoyed a conversion to the guard spot. Saw enough varsity action last season to earn a letter and competed this spring with his close friend, Dan Pfabe, for the starting job. Continued experience will solidify the social science major (at Livingston College) in the guard picture. . . . Scholastic Background: Earned all-conference, all-county and honorable mention all-state honors as a two-way end at Jefferson Township High. He was also voted to the second team all-state in baseball while picking up three letters in basketball.

JAMES R. TEATOM, 20, 5-10, 190 junior strong safety from Massapequa Park, N.Y. . . . Coach's Quote: "In limited action this spring because of his lacrosse play, Jim showed the same consistent progress he did over the whole of last season as he grew in the role of starting strong safety. He has outstanding leadership abilities and plays the run extremely well. He continues to improve as a fine defensive back." . . . Rutgers Experience: Lettered in 1974. Jim took over the starting position at strong safety on an injury to George McLaren in the fall camp. His tackle total was fourth best on the team, the 71 including 46 first hits and one sack. He is the leading interceptor returning to the secondary. His four last year was second only to graduated Ed Jones. He lettered in football and lacrosse, one of only two male athletes to start in two sports last year. He recovered two fumbles, caused one, and broke up six passes. He is a physical education major at Rutgers College. . . . Scholastic Background: An all-county selection in three sports. Jim was an all-state choice in football at Farmingdale High School on Long Island. He earned three letters each in football, lacrosse and wrestling. . . Varsity Statistics: (Tackles) 1974 Prim 46/Asst. 25/Total 71.

NATHANIEL TORAN, 22, 6-2, 225, junior defensive end from Perth Amboy. . . Coach's Quote: "Nate is one of the finest individuals a person would want to coach. He has a tremendous overall attitude and is a tough, quick and strong athlete who enjoys football. He's a hitter and an excellent leader who has the respect of the entire team." . . . Rutgers Experience: Lettered in 1973 and 1974. Nate's rookie season was outstanding, taking over for an injured Dwight Lipscomb halfway through the season and maintaining excellence at the defensive end slot. His sophomore season was even more fantastic as he earned All-East first team honors from the Associated Press and the ECAC. Nate recorded 19 QB sacks for losses totalling 115 yards. He led the defense with four recoveries, caused two other fumbles and broke up five passes. And, according to his coaches, the best is yet to come. Nate is a major in biological science at Livingston College. . . . Scholastic Background: A three-year football letterman at Perth Amboy, Nate missed his senior year because of a shoulder injury but earned all-county honors as a junior. He also played basketball and set the shot putt standard in track. . . Varsity Statistics (Tackles) 1974 Prim. 46/Asst. 22/Total 68.

C. MARK TWITTY, 19, 5-11, 167, junior wide receiver from Lawrenceville. . . . Coach's Quote: "If Mark stays healthy and can pick up where he left off last season, he can have an outstanding career as a receiver. He has great potential, excellent hands and can run with authority after catching the ball." . . . Rutgers Experience: Lettered in 1974. Injured on the first day of fall camp last year, Mark was slow to recover and had difficult time getting back his number one ranking as a halfback. He got his first start against Lehigh, the fourth game, and went on to gain more air yardage than any other receiver (314) for a 34.9 average on nine receptions. He combined with Bert Kosup for a record 90-yard pass play against Colgate after being switched to wide receiver. He's a business administration major at Rutgers College. . . . Scholastic Background: Mark played his high school ball under Dick Curl at Cherry Hill East and will enjoy the reunion with Curl at Rutgers this year. He played four positions for Cherry Hill, including quarterback, and was an all-South Jersey choice in football and baseball as well as a member of the track squad. . . . Varsity Statistics (Receiving) 1974 Cgt. 9/Yds. 314/TD's 3. (Rushing) 1974 Att. 16/Yds. 15/TD's 0. (KO Returns) No. 1/Yds. 26.

RICHARD WAGNER, 20, 6-3, 220, sophomore middle guard from Wayne. . . Coach's Quote: "Rich is a hitter and despite his lack of varsity experience will definitely be our starting middle guard. He has all the qualities necessary for the position - good quickness, strength, toughness and movement. Rich has a fine future." . . . Rutgers Experience: Injured for much of the pre-season camp, Rich made consistent progress through his freshman season to move up to reserve status at a tackle position while also getting action late in the season at the Knight spot. He saw action in five varsity games. His spring performance was so strong that last year's starter, Steve Hoffman, could move over to a tackle slot. Rich is a student at Cook College. . . . Scholastic Background: Rich saw action at defensive end for most of his senior season at Wayne Valley High School, but was switched to defensive tackle with only two games left on the schedule. He was presented the "Sportsmanship" award at his graduation in 1974 after participating in both football and track and field. He established a state sectional record in the javelin, 196 feet. . . Varsity Statistics: 1974 (Tackles) Prim 1/Asst. 1/Total 2.

JON S. WALLING, 20, 6-5, 225, sophomore tight end from Milltown. . . . Coach's Quote: "Jon has the potential to be an outstanding collegiate tight end. He is ideal in size, is an excellent blocker and has very soft hands. The big guy also runs well and his singular combination of abilities lends extra dimensions to the winged-T attack." . . . Rutgers Experience: A transfer from Purdue where he played varsity ball as a freshman, Jon sat out last season but had an outstanding spring practice. There, he won the starting job hands down. Jon is an anthropology major at Rutgers College. . . . Scholastic Background: A two-way end at East Brunswick, Jon won all-county honors and was an all-state honorable mention. He also played basketball and was a track participant. Twice he was his school's MVP in basketball before graduation in 1973.

ELVIN WASHINGTON, 19, 5-11, 220, sophomore linebacker from Newark. . . . Coach's Quote: "Elvin came on strong over the second half of last season and showed tremendous potential. He has all the tools to be truly outstanding. He is quick, has great lateral movement, sheds blockers well and is a good tackler." . . . Rutgers Experience: Lettered in 1974. Elvin began his freshman season as the number three middle guard but was given a shot at a linebacking job, earning a starting role against Connecticut and then starring in the 6-0 win over Boston U, with a 42-yard interception for the only score. He's a liberal arts student at Livingston College. . . . Scholastic Background: Elvin earned four football letters at Vailsburg High while playing four different positions, including a stint as a fullback. He was an all-city, all-county and all-state selection and, in track, set the shot putt record for his school. . . . Varsity Statistics 1974 (Tackles) Prim 21/Asst. 17/Total 38.

RUTGERS STADIUM

Beautiful Rutgers Stadium has been a kind home to the Scarlet Knights as is evidenced by the close to 75% winning edge in games played there. It was dedicated November 5, 1938 with a 20-18 win over Princeton, Rutgers' first win over the Tigers since the nation's first intercollegiate game in 1869, which incidentally was played in New Brunswick.

Thirty-seven football seasons have passed since its completion, and Rutgers Stadium has experienced 27 winning home seasons...not a bad record.

Over the years, 43 colleges and three service teams have visited the tree-lined bowl, and this year the Hawaii team will be hosted for the first time. The Rainbow Warriors will be playing in front of as many as 31,000 fans when they travel to The Banks, October 4 (23,000 permanent seats and 8,000 temporary).

Rutgers Stadium has been the site of many activities other than football over the years, though. The IC4A, Metropolitan and National AAU track meets have been held there in the past and in 1974 it was the site of the NCAA Division I Lacrosse Championship. Commencement ceremonies for the University have also been held on its venerated grounds.

Construction on the stadium began in 1935 with funds from the federal Works Progress Administration and Rutgers. Some 160,000 cubic yards of earth were taken from a narrow ravine at the site in Piscataway, and today the East and West stands are situated along the original sides of that ravine.

DID YOU KNOW....?

Rutgers 781 total offensive yards against Colgate was the national high for the 1974 season as well as a new mark for the team. The previous record was 629 against Colgate in 1968.

The 90-yard completion from Bert Kosup to Mark Twitty in the Colgate game last year is the longest pass play in Rutgers history.

Three Scarlet players share the pass interception record of 14 - John Pollock (1966-68), Ed Jones (1971-74) and Tony Pawlik (1972-74). Next on the list is Bill Austin (1956-58) with 13.

Rutgers rushed 591 times in 1974, a record, and had 776 plays, also a mark.

Three Rutgers players, all selected to All-America teams between 1914 and 1918 by Walter Camp, were pioneer members of professional football teams in the mid-west, the precursors of today's NFL teams. Bob "Nasty" Nash, Al "Budge" Garrett and Paul "Robey" Robeson played together on the Akron Pros team in 1920. Nash and Garrett played a year earlier in the initial season of the American Professional Football Association for the Massillon Tigers with Nash as a coach also. Robeson played for three seasons with three different teams, Akron, the Hammond Pros and the Milwaukee Badgers. Garrett's three seasons were spent in Akron and with the Cleveland Indians in the same season and with Massillon and Milwaukee. Nash was with Massillon, Akron, three years with the Buffalo All Americans and ended his pro career with the New York Giants (1925, the first year of the franchise purchased by Tim Mara for $500).

A total of six Scarlet players were recognized by All-East selectors last season. They were chosen by three different agencies. Ed Jones was a first team pick of the Associated Press, the New York Times and the Eastern College Athletic Conference. Paul Krasnavage was a first team choice of the NYT and the ECAC and a second team pick by the AP. Andy Zdobylak was an ECAC first team pick and was tabbed for honorable mention by the AP. Tom Holmes was picked to the first team by the ECAC and was accorded honorable mention by the AP. Nate Toran made the AP and NYT first teams and Tony Pawlik received AP honorable mention.

Rutgers again has a set of twins on the team. This year its the Hynoski twins from Manville, Bob and Walt, both halfbacks. In the early sixties, it was the Kenny twins from Closter.

Rutgers won four of five home games in 1974 to increase its winning percentage in Rutgers Stadium to nearly 75%. There have been eight undefeated home seasons.

Of this year's scholarship freshmen, 16 of 22 are New Jersey residents. Last year 22 of 24 were from the state. The squad percentage this year is 73.5 (71 of 98).

1975 marks the 106th anniversary of Rutgers football. Only Princeton can match that longevity.

With the pros. Currently active are nine recent Scarlet grads. They are: "JJ" Jennings '75, Philadelphia Bell (WFL); Steve Ferughelli '71, Montreal Alouettes (CFL); Ed Jones '75 and Leo Gasienica '73, Dallas Cowboys (NFL); Larry Christoff '73, New York Giants (NFL); Mike Yancheff '72, Tom Sweeney '74 and Andy Tighe '74, Philadelphia Bell (WFL), and Tony Pawlik '75, New Orleans Saints.

Dwight Lipscomb, a senior from Plainfield, and Tom Holmes, a Miami senior, are three-year letterwinners. They were the first freshmen to receive varsity letters since 1954. Freshmen were not allowed to play on the varsity from that season through 1971 when the NCAA ruling once again permitted four years of varsity eligibility.

BUCKNELL PROSPECTS:

Bob Curtis replaces the late Fred Prender who died of a heart attack in April. Curtis formerly coached at Franklin and Marshall where he posted a four-year mark of 32-3, including two undefeated 9-0 seasons as well as four consecutive MAC southern division championships. Curtis stresses defense but his F & M squad also averaged 45 points a game last season. At Bucknell, he will inherit running back and receiver strength and an experienced quarterback in John Burian, but will have to build an offensive line. Ralph Turri heads a strong linebacking group and three starters return to the defensive line. There is experience in the secondary.

LAST YEAR'S GAME: RUTGERS 16, BUCKNELL 14

LEWISBURG, PA., September 21 — A last-second field goal by Bill Bradley was a fitting end to a bizarre contest in rain-soaked Memorial Stadium. The junior placekicker successfully converted the kick despite a fumbled snap and a partial tip, giving Rutgers a narrow win in the season opener. The Knights could only scrape together 80 yards rushing on 46 runs in the mud. However, sophomore quarterback Bert Kosup compensated by throwing for 117 yards in his varsity debut.

PRINCETON PROSPECTS:

Depth, balance and a new winning attitude are the elements that Bob Casciola hopes to parlay into the first Tiger winning season in four years. Casciola followed his initial 1-8 campaign with a 4-4-1 record last year and Princeton adherents feel this could be the best Tiger team since 1969 when it took a share of the Ivy title. Eight returning offensive starters and seven on defense spur the Tiger hopes. Halfback Walt Snickenberger and defensive tackle Tom Schalch are the major losses but two year vet QB Ron Beible is hot in pursuit of passing records. His prime target will be All-Ivy receiver Neil Chamberlin. All-League guard Joe Zajac heads four other starters on offensive line and the defense is solid with veterans in all areas.

LAST YEAR'S GAME: RUTGERS 6, PRINCETON 6:

PRINCETON, September 28 — An emotional finish marked another chapter of football's oldest series as Ron Beible of Princeton brought his team 70 yards downfield to gain the tying touchdown with 22 seconds left in the game. The Tigers, however, felt they deserved victory when a band of overzealous fans tore down both goalposts preventing a likely Tiger extra-point and forcing an unsuccessful two-point conversion. The defensive struggle before 26,000 Palmer Stadium spectators had been scoreless until the third quarter when the Scarlet's Tony Pawlik made a spectacular 94-yard punt return for a touchdown. The deadlock was the Knights' first since 1952 and the first ever with Princeton. Curt Edwards and All-Ivy Walt Snickenberger led their respective teams in running with over 100 yards each.

HAWAII PROSPECTS:

Rainbow passer Alex Kaloi completed half of his 140 passes last year and was 50 percent against Rutgers. His accuracy will be needed again though he has his best runner, Regis Grice (138 yards vs the Scarlet), back in the fold. The loss of Kaloi's top receiver Mel de Laura will hurt Hawaii's passing game but the Hula T-sprint out attack could be potent with its great speed. Depth could be an overall problem for Larry Price in his second season. The Hawaii 3-4 defensive alignment could also hurt from the loss of four starting linebackers but John Woodcock and Cliff Laboy return in the line and the secondary is strong with talent and experience.

LAST YEAR'S GAME: HAWAII 28, RUTGERS 16

HONOLULU, HI., November 30 — Quarterback Alex Kaloi of Hawaii wasted no time in determining the fate of the Scarlet Knights in their first meeting ever. On just the third play from scrimmage he broke loose on a sneak for 68 yards and a touchdown, and later added 138 passing yards and a TD toss. Tailback Regis Grice's pair of touchdown runs in the second half increased a Rainbow Warrior lead to 28-10 after a 14-10 halftime score. Defensive back Ken Shibata was a defensive standout as he picked off two key aeriels by Rutgers and also recovered a fumble. Those factors, combined with an all-around fine game by the Warriors, overshadowed another strong running performance by Curt Edwards, who compiled 131 yards.

LEHIGH PROSPECTS:

The Engineers tout a "changed image" now that Kim McQuilken and Joe Alleva are gone from the QB post, a presence that gave Fred Dunlap three winning seasons in the last four. Joe Sterrett is the successor and will still put the ball in the air but "at a more normal pace." Another reason is that Lehigh boasts "more quantity, and quality" in running backs than ever before in Dunlap's tenure. Fullback Ron Gardner (of Maplewood) and halfback Dave Aprill (of Fords) give Dunlap a New Jersey running back duo. Gardner has scored 25 TDs in two seasons, 16 last year. The Engineer defense, with eight returning starters, is strong but the offensive line needs rebuilding to make the new image a successful one.

LAST YEAR'S GAME: RUTGERS 37, LEHIGH 16

NEW BRUNSWICK October 12 — Rutgers maintained its undefeated record through this, its fourth game with a decisive victory over Lehigh. The Engineers were very much in the game until late in the third quarter when the Scarlet finally pulled away on touchdown runs by Curt Edwards and Mike Fisher. The Lehigh offense looked good in the first half, taking leads of 7-0 and 10-7, but sputtered in the second as a result of their inability to convert on third down chances. Lehigh quarterback Joe Alleva and split end Bob Liptak teamed up for 103 yards in the air, but couldn't capitalize for a single touchdown. Alleva ended up with 268 yards for the afternoon.

WILLIAM AND MARY PROSPECTS:

Finding a replacement for three-year starter Bill Deery as quarterback of the veer-option offense is Jim Root's chief problem but he also has to fill vacancies left by 17 other grads, seven of whom were also offensive starters. The defensive outlook is optimistic with nine starters returning, strong particularly at the ends and at the linebacking spots where the Indians boast the best in the Southern Conference. Little help from the schedule which has the first four games on the road in ominous fashion. Senior Paul Kruis appears Deery's successor. Rutgers grads Lou Tepper and Dave Zimmerman may not enjoy their homecoming.

LAST YEAR'S GAME: WILLIAM AND MARY 28, RUTGERS 15

WILLIAMSBURG, VA., October 19 — William & Mary did all its scoring in the first half and it was more than enough to send Rutgers to their first defeat of the season. The lethargic Knights entered the game riding a 3-0-1 mark but soon found themselves trailing 7-0 after 2½ minutes and 14-0 before the first period ended. The Indians then proceeded to please 13,000 Cary Field fans with two more touchdowns in the second quarter sandwiched around a rare safety by Rutgers on a bad snap into the end zone on a punt. RB John Gerdelman tallied three of those four TD's and ended up with nearly 100 yards rushing as the Indians were obviously content in chipping away at the Scarlet defense with 60 running plays out of 70 total from the line of scrimmage. Bert Kosup scored one TD himself and threw to Pete Clark for another in a losing cause for the Knights.

COLUMBIA PROSPECTS:

The outcome of competition between veterans and sophomores will determine how much improved the Lions will be in Bill Campbell's second season. The looming battles make Campbell optimistic but not "optimistic enough to predict a dramatic turnaround" from last year. The Lions scored only five times rushing and five times passing in 1974 with QB Mike Delaney passing for four and running for one. A year of experience should give the strong-armed senior some consistency and help avoid the 10 interceptions he threw last year. Veteran-sophomore battles shape up at every position except in the defensive secondary where three starters return. The defensive line has good experience but lacks size.

LAST GAME, 1973: RUTGERS 28, COLUMBIA 2

NEW BRUNSWICK, October 27 — Only a late, erratic hike out of the end zone on a punt separated the Rutgers defense from a shutout but the Rutgers Stadium crowd gladly settled for the final score and the pleasure of watching "JJ" Jennings in action. The defense played well as evidenced by its holding the Columbia team rushing total to 91 yards. Jennings, who scampered for a hundred yards and a touchdown on 29 carries, surpassed the previous Rutgers school records for career carries and total yardage at 536 and 2,464, respectively. Other runners to join the festivities included Ron Schycko, Bill Bolash and quarterback Gary Smolyn.

CONNECTICUT PROSPECTS:

Larry Naviaux enters his third season and faces an upgraded schedule that will test his winged-T which he hopes will provide a consistent offense. Most of his 32 lettermen made last year a "learning season" and a more productive offense hinges on quarterbacks Bernie Palmer and Lou Mancari, who shared starting roles. Naviaux would like to "move the ball in the air better" and will rely on receivers Allan MacLellan and Leroy Williams. Leading defensive returnees are tackle Paul Mariano, cornerback Marty Bird and safety Rich Fenton. UConn's good defense looks for a complementary offense.

NEW BRUNSWICK, November 2 — With time winding down and the Scarlet Knights clinging to a slim 7-6 lead, safety Jeff Theodoss came out of nowhere to intercept an errant pass and run it back to the Rutgers 13 yard line setting up a field goal for an upset win by the University of Connecticut. The field goal came off the foot of sophomore kicker Greg Sinay, tying a personal record for him and giving the Huskies their second consecutive victory over Rutgers. Sinay booted all three UConn field goals, from 22, 32 and 27 yards out. The lone Rutgers score came on a two-yard dive by Bill Bolash after Bert Kosup had hit Mike Fisher on a 63-yard pass play down to the UConn 2. The defense, meanwhile, found some consolation because they extended their streak of holding the opponents without a touchdown to ten quarters.

LAFAYETTE PROSPECTS:

The Leopards come off a disappointing season in which three games were lost in the last two minutes of play and in which 18 points was the high point production. Key to Neil Putnam's '75 success lies in the ability to rejuvenate a weak offense. The job rests with QB senior Mark Jones who sparkled early but was bothered by a knee injury. Orlando Wright is top runner and the receiving corps is a veteran one, as is the entire defense which returns experience at most every position. Center Gary Haroutunian is the only offensive line starter back. Highly regarded roverback Mike Slattery is lost to the defense but that should be strong though small with a cushion of returning starters.

LAST YEAR'S GAME: RUTGERS 35, LAFAYETTE 0

EASTON, PA., November 9 — Coming off tough games against Connecticut, Air Force and William & Mary, Rutgers had an easy time against Lafayette. Back Mike Fisher led the way with 105 yards rushing on only 15 attempts for an average of 7 yards per carry. Bert Kosup only had five completions and 49 yards in the air but made two throws count for touchdowns to ends Mark Debes and Pete Clark. But, in all fairness, it was again the defense that deserved a lot of praise. Not to mention the shutout and extension of their TD-less string to fourteen periods, the Scarlet "D" smothered the Lafayette ground game, limiting the Leopards to a total of 18 yards on 35 tries. On the other hand, the Rutgers runners piled up 381 yards.

BOSTON UNIVERSITY PROSPECTS:

The Terrier offense figures to be strong with five returning starters and a host of second liners. Joe Driscoll is the leading rusher back and will get a lot of calls from QB Greg Geiger who started five games last year. Back-up talent will fill the vacated line spots and the receivers, Peter Kessel and Steve Richards, also return. Paul Kemp's major work will be with the defense where eight starters are lost, including most of the linebacking and secondary posts. Kemp's program seems on schedule. Yankee Conference contenders last year, the Terriers and Kemp hold the title as the chief goal this season.

LAST YEAR'S GAME: RUTGERS 6, BOSTON UNIVERSITY 0

NEW BRUNSWICK, November 16 — An unlikely hero, in the person of one Elvin Washington, emerged as the star of the game in this close battle against Boston University. Washington, a freshman from Newark, was granted his first varsity start at linebacker. He promptly responded with a picturesque second quarter pickoff of a Mark Ryll aerial and wove his way back 42 yards for a touchdown in what proved to be the only score of the game. However, he wasn't the only one to steal a pass, as there were three other interceptions, giving one an idea of the kind of day Ryll and Greg Geiger each experienced. Each steal halted Terrier threats, and were made by Andy Farkas, Tony Pawlik and Jim Teatom. Otherwise, the game was not much more than a punting contest as each team set a season high for number of punts.

COLGATE'S PROSPECTS:

Colgate's potent wishbone again rang up lots of yards and QB Bruce Basile returns to lead another productive attack that will feature his own running and that of Pat Healy, a second team All-East choice in 1974. A pair of speedsters are advertised in the Raider backfield in Keith Polito and Henry White. The only major loss on the offensive line is split end Dave Lake who set a single season record for yardage. What needs shoring up is a defense that allowed lots of points, topped by the Scarlet's 62 last year. Sizeable newcomers could make an imposing front line for opponents to go against, and the secondary returns relatively intact.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J., November 23-Taking sweet revenge for the previous season's 42-0 loss, the Scarlet Knights really poured it on Colgate and achieved a number of records in the process. First off, the offense trampled over a porous Raider defense for a grand total of 781 yards, setting a school record and surpassing the national high for 1974. The former mark had been set against the very same Red Raiders of 1968. In addition, Bert Kosup's 90-yard bomb to Mark Twitty broke the record of 87 over ten years earlier. On defense, Ed Jones' 14th career interception tied him in that department with Tony Pawlik, who got his knotted the previous Saturday, and John Pollock (1966-68). Mike Fisher attained a season high for longest run with his 79-yard dash while all Rutgers offensive totals were '74 highs. It was also the highest point total since Rutgers wiped out Kings Point, 79-6 in 1949. Individual leaders included Fisher (149) and Twitty (192) in the areas of rushing yardage and pass reception gains, respectively. Bert Kosup hurled for 222 yards in the air.

SYRACUSE PROSPECTS:

Much improved over last season when the Orangemen averaged barely 10 points a game while allowing nearly 25 for a 2-9 record, Syracuse will "hang our hat on our defense," according to second-year head coach Frank Maloney. Maloney feels his team has a better break in the early scheduling and assumes an edge "on a couple of clubs while three or four other games could fall into the toss-up category." The defense notes strength on the line, Ray Preston as an All-American prospect at linebacker and vets Tim Moresco and Larry King in the secondary. Two quality quarterbacks, Jim Donoghue and Bob Mitch, who will throw more, are strong points of the offense which will need a rebuilt line and developing backs. Lonnie Allgood and Joe Brennan are talented receivers. Orangemen will be improved, question is how much.

LAST GAME, 1950: SYRACUSE 42, RUTGERS 12

SYRACUSE, N.Y., September 23 — Rutgers suffered its worst defeat in six years as it was soundly whipped in its opener at the hands of a powerful Orange squadron. Factors contributing to the setback were a lack of experienced Knight players, a lack of skill in fundamentals such as blocking and tackling, and the injury of the Scarlet's ace quarterback, Walt LaPraire. Coach Harvey Harman also credited the Syracuse backfield as having terrific speed that kept Rutgers on its heels all day.

RUTGERS' ALL-AMERICANS

Four authentic, 24-karat All-Americans have played football at Rutgers. Selected by nationally recognized agencies, the Scarlet choices represent six different years (two named twice) and range over a period of 45 years. One is a Hall of Famer and there is hope that another will soon enter the Hall of Fame.

The Scarlet All-Americans are Paul Robeson (1917-18), Homer Hazel (1923-24), William Austin (1958) and Alex Kroll (1961).

Between 1913 and 1918, four other Rutgers players were selected to the second and third teams named by Walter Camp. Howard Talman was named twice to Camp's third team, in 1913 as a guard and in 1914 as a halfback, and to the second team as a fullback in 1915. Bob "Nasty" Nash was a second-team tackle in 1914; Al "Budge" Garrett a third-team guard in 1916; and Frank Kelley a third team halfback in 1919.

Robeson was the first Rutgers All-America in 1917, though Camp did not publish his list because of the war. Only the third black athlete to be selected, Robeson is the single two-time All-America not inducted into the Hall of Fame. However, the internationally known actor and concert artist, living now in Philadelphia at the age of 77, is receiving strong support currently towards nomination.

Hazel, who died in 1968, was selected as an end and as a fullback in his two seasons of competition, years that produced identical 7-1-1 records. His last appearance at Rutgers was in 1967 and his 1958 visit is recorded in a picture with Austin. Hazel was voted into the Hall of Fame in 1951.

Austin was named to the Associated Press' first All-America backfield after captaining the Scarlet to an 8-1 record. A number of his records have been eclipsed recently but he remains the all-time career total offense leader. Austin starred both on offense and defense.

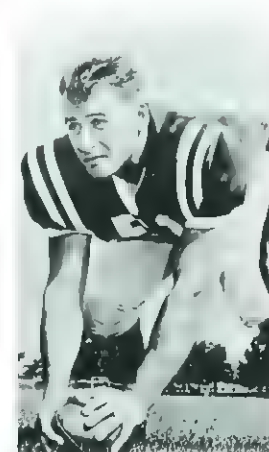

Kroll earned first team ranking on seven of nine nationally-named teams and led the Scarlet Knights to a 17-1 record in his two seasons, the second of which was the undefeated season (9-0) in 1961. Kroff captained the squad at center in his senior year.

From its founding, in 1766, until 1945, when the New Jersey legislature and the Board of Trustees agreed that all of Rutgers would become the State University of New Jersey, Rutgers was a small, sedate University nestled comfortably along the Raritan River.

Suddenly, Rutgers began to grow and change. A building program, which over the next three decades was to result in the construction of more than 80 major buildings on campuses in Camden, Newark, and New Brunswick, was begun. By 1975, the University would enroll over 44,000 students in its 19 major divisions.

There are now more than 90,000 living alumni of whom more than 50,000 are residents of New Jersey. Slightly more than 90 percent of the current co-educational enrollment resides in the state, so it is clear that Rutgers is fulfilling its mission as a state university under the direction of Dr. Edward J. Bloustein, the university's 17th president now in his fourth year.

As modern and progressive as the University is today, it can recall (and especially amid the Bicentennial plans) its founding as Queens College under a charter of England's King George III in 1766. Under the auspices of the Dutch Reformed Church, the school took its present name in 1825 from Colonel Henry Rutgers, a philanthropist. It became the Land Grant College of New Jersey in 1864, repealing at the time its church relationship.

As Rutgers grew into one of the 20 largest universities in the United States, it began increasingly to influence the cultural and intellectual life of its state. More and more, it strove to be not only big, but good, to offer the highest quality of education to its students.

In New Brunswick-Piscataway, the undergraduate complex is comprised of four multi-purpose colleges - Rutgers, Livingston, Cook and Douglass — and two professional schools — The College of Engineering and The College of Pharmacy. The total enrollment on these campuses is over 17,000.
